

THE HERALD.
SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH.

FRIDAY, February 27, 1891.
Advertisements in this column 50 cents per line each insertion.

TO ADVERTISERS.
Changes for advertisements in THE SALT LAKE HERALD must be handed in not later than Friday night.

SALT LAKE STAKE CONFERENCE.
The semi-annual conference of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion will convene in the tabernacle, Salt Lake city, on Sunday morning, March 1, 1891, at 10 o'clock.
The bishops are requested to close the Sunday schools and ward meetings on that day.
A general attendance is requested. The public are invited.
ANGUS M. CANNON, President of Stake.
JOSEPH E. TAYLOR, President of Stake.
CHARLES W. PENROSE, President of Stake.

LOCAL AND OTHER BRIEFS.

The fire bug is abroad.
BLANKETS at Cutler's, 36 Main.
GREAT tabernacle concert to-night.
The city and county middle grows apace!
DIPHTHERIA is raging at Moab, Emery county.
STEPHENS will show us his idea of a "tabernacle choir" to-night.

MCCORMICK & Co. received yesterday, Hammer barrel, $3.25.

WELLS, FARRIS & Co. yesterday received: One barrel, $3.50; total, $145.

BEST prices. Best prices. Best terms. At Coater & Snellgrove's, 74 Main street.

W. E. WEIR will sell Salt Lake note the result of his visit to Germany to-night.

The largest display of silk and linen goods and millinery at Hardy, Young & Co's.

There are messages at the Western Union telegraph office for W. E. Wilson and C. E. McHugh.

This freshman class of the University of Deseret gave a ball in the university building this evening.

JUDGE ZANE, who is suffering from a gripe, will be able to resume his official duties in a short time.

FIRST appearance (in the tabernacle) of the boys (the Spanish Students' Mandolin and Guitar club) to-night.

MRS. WRIGHT, wife of Captain John D. Wright, died yesterday. Notice of funeral will be given hereafter.

COMMITTEES from the grand jury were investigating the city and county jails, and other public buildings yesterday.

T. R. JONES & Co. received yesterday. Selected lead, $8.50; silver bars, $2.00; lead and silver rods, $3.00. Total, $13.50.

REMEMBER the sale of seats for Emma Juch's grand opera engagement commences Monday morning, March 2, at the theatre box office.

THERE will be a general stake picnic and high priests' meeting combined, on Saturday, at 11 o'clock a.m., in the assembly hall.

The last carriage of postoffice furniture will arrive here on Sunday. From present appearances, the grand move will be made in about ten days.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Ann Emery will be held at her daughter's, Mrs. W. C. Moss, residence, No. 360 South Second East, Friday at 11 o'clock a.m. Friends invited.

SAYING is the secret of wealth. Five per cent. per annum paid on savings deposits. Interest compounded quarterly, at the State Bank of Utah, capital, $50,000.

All parties indebted to us will please note that we are temporarily located with Spencer, Clawson & Co., Broadway. Prompt settlements are requested. Co-op. Furniture Co.

LADIES when passing by should stop in at the Santa Fe office, room 214, Progress building, and ask for some of the popular sheet music now being given away by that company.

P. J. MORAN, a popular and rising young business man, and Miss Dollie Shreve were joined in marriage on Wednesday evening, Judge Anderson performing the ceremony.

The semi-annual conference of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion will convene in the tabernacle on Sunday morning, March 1, 1891, at 10 o'clock.

The bishops are requested to close Sunday schools and ward meetings on that day.

ZION'S Savings Bank and Trust Co. will loan you an auxiliary bank to take home. This bank has combination locks and is ornate. We pay 5 per cent. interest. Willford Woodruff, president; Geo. C. Cannon, vice-president.

JUDGE LANEY had very little business to transact in the police court yesterday. Richard Thompson, an old offender, was fined $5 for drunkenness. George Burk and Andrew Johnson, two plain laborers, were assessed $5 each.

SEVERAL FITZPATRICK'S report of yesterday's temperature is as follows: At 5:30 a.m., Salt Lake city, 37; Fort Washakie, 16; Fort Ravalli, 11. At 8 p.m., Salt Lake, 41; Ogden, 31; Brigham, 14; Park City, 16; Logan, 26.

The Social Welfare club, Salt Lake's foremost single women's organization, is already preparing for spring and summer sports. Considerable interest is manifested in the coming annual election of officers, which will be held on Monday evening next.

The Honorable club gave an enjoyable party at the Fourth ward meeting house last evening. About forty couples were present, and they whiled away the hours until 10 o'clock with dancing. The Honorable club has eighteen members, and they have given a series of balls during the season which have been successful.

THE Young Women's Journal for March will contain a new department devoted to the interests of country shoppers who come to Salt Lake city to do business. Only those firms can obtain space in their columns who are absolutely reliable. There are many people in the city, also, who can profit by reading this department.

GEORGE BRANTON'S handsome face is misused at Wells-Fargo's bank, he being laid up with a gripe or some of the kindred maladies of which a great many people are suffering. While Mr. Branton is confined to his room, his mother is ill at the Continental. Parson Follock, who is a very close friend of Mr. Branton, is filling the place of a ministering angel.

DANIEL GRAVES, superintendent of the Utah Silk association, writes: "All those desirous of raising silk worms this season can obtain eggs from the department of Washington. The evidence shows that Langton had malice in his heart towards Moss; that he had made threats against his life, and the defendant was informed of it. Under the conditions which the evidence showed existed, Moss was justified in supposing that he was in peril, and when Langton met him in the room that night, picked a quarrel, struck him, and then reached for his pistol, Moss was fully justified in shooting at him. It was only a question as to who would fire first, and if Moss had not shot Langton when he did, then Langton would have shot Moss on the spot. The defendant was to-day on trial for the murder of Moss. It was a clear case of killing in self-defense, and it would be an outrage to let a man go who had committed such an even assault and battery, when he had only exercised the right which the laws of God and man gave him—the right to protect his own life."

At the conclusion of Judge Powers' argument there was a slight burst of applause from the crowded court room, but this was immediately suppressed. Judge Anderson stated that the closing argument for the prosecution would be made this morning. Just before the court adjourned, Judge Daly arose and asked if the jury might go to the theatre again. Judge Anderson asked if there would be any objection to this.

Judge Powers replied that there would not. The jurors were unable to understand the performance on Wednesday.

The request was granted, and court adjourned until this morning at 10 when Mr. Snyder will make his argument.

In the Probate Court.

Estate of Sylvanus Hicks; decree of due and legal notice to creditors.

Estate of Daniel Gann; order made fixing March 21, 1891, as time to hear account and petition for distribution.

Estate of Alexander Brunner; March 20 to hear petition for the appointment of commissioners in partition.

Estate and guardianship of Frank C. and Allen E. Potter, minors; March 10 to hear guardian's annual account.

FOR SORTING THE SKIN.

Allying irritation, removing roughness, wind tan, and like troubles there is nothing equal to Wisdom's Celebrated Violet Cream.

FOR LETTER HEADS.

Bill heads, stationers, ball tickets and all kinds of job work, send to THE HERALD. Quick work and reasonable prices as guaranteed.

GRASS SEEDS AND FIELD SEEDS.

At T. C. Armstrong, 472 W. Second South street Salt Lake City.

$25 cash, $12.50 per month will now buy a lot in Lincoln Park addition. C. E. Wantland, 235 Main street.

WHAT WILL IT BE?

Moss' Fate Now Trembling in the Balance.

HE CLAIMS SELF-DEFENSE

His Own Story of How and Why He Shot Langton Detailed in Court—Evidence All In.

The Moss murder trial is nearing an end. The next few hours will decide whether or not the defendant will go forth a free man or spend the remainder of his days behind prison bars. The day was devoid of sensational features, and but little interest is taken in the outcome, save by those directly interested.

The case was resumed yesterday morning by the recalling of the defendant, who said: "I became acquainted with Thomas Kearns at Park City in 1883 or 1884. I became acquainted with Alex Langton some four years ago. Kearns and I became very intimate. I came to this city in June last and we returned to Park City together. Previous to that time I did not know that there was any trouble between Kearns and Langton. On the day we returned to the Park these men became engaged in a fight near the bank, and I tried to separate them. Officer McGee came up and separated the men. Later in the day, Kearns and I went to a restaurant for dinner. Shortly afterwards Langton came in and Kearns led to him: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

He replied that he was not, and asked me what business it was of mine. I replied that it was none, except that I didn't want to see trouble arise between friends through a mistake. He then said to me: 'I want you to quit your blackmaling or go out and fight it out.' I told him there might be a mistake and asked Kearns for the letter which he gave to me and I walked over to Langton and asked:

"ARE YOU THE AUTHOR OF THIS?"

DINWOODEY'S WALL PAPER.

Superior line, latest designs, all styles.

Try Angell Bros. Lumber yard, No. 63 First East street. Telephone No. 433.

A POLICY.

In the "Niagara" will insure sweet repose. H. J. GRANT & Co., Agents, J. F. GRANT, Manager.

Bed Comforts at Dinwoodey's.

The best chance for a home yet offered. Lincoln Park. Lots sold on monthly payments by C. E. Wantland, 235 Main street.

A complete line of furniture, bedding, etc., at the Golden Rule bazaar, 54 W., Second South.

PROTECTION.

The "American," of Philadelphia, will take care of you. H. J. GRANT & Co., Agents, J. F. GRANT, Manager.

Bedroom suits at $3.99 and up, at the Golden Rule bazaar, 54 W., Second South.

HARRY R. BROWN—EXPERT ACCOUNTANT.

230 Main street. Instructions in bookkeeping. Day or evening. Actual practice only.

Victor people guarantee their cushion tops to stay in, to ride easier, last longer, than any other cushion or solid tire made. J. S. JENSEN, agent.

"IN MEMORIAM."

Johnson Vivian, died at Brigham, February 23, 1891.

Once again hath the grim reaper appeared; another loved one stricken down by his keen blade; another home void of the beaming countenance upon whom they were wont to confide all love, trust, affection and confidence.

One who among his multitude of friends, was not only a friend in words, but in deeds.

One who in the severest storms of life was "adamant," and in sickness and distress was as the lily.

Forever thou kindest and truest of husbands, thou most trusted and dearest of friends, thou loved one who shall follow me on the journey that has taken.

And thou, who in the most happy land, where parting will be no more.

And let us with the bereaved family find consolation in the thought that thou art not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

Not dead but gone before.

MANUFACTURE OF BUILDINGS

Several Important Sales Reported on Market Street.

WEST TEMPLE STREET STORES

Real Estate Men Continue to Talk "Deep Creek" or "Sust," a Whole Lof or a Piece of Crust.

J. W. Hamlin has been at work for a week negotiating for the sale, division and re-adjustment of the lot lines on Market street.

When the new street was opened up William Burke had a long strip of frontage that shut Mr. Hill and the Hambergers out of frontage. This strip of land was 16 1/2 feet wide and extended 330 feet back from Main street. To secure this there has been considerable dickering, as Jake and Simon Hamberger, Mr. Hill, and H. H. McCartney had to make a division of their land, by which they all could secure a part of the frontage which the purchase of the strip would give them.

There was also the sale of 7x125 on the northwest corner of Market and Main street to a Minneapolis gentleman, the consideration being $70,000.

Mr. Hill, the Hambergers and Mr. McCartney expect to erect a number of substantial business blocks, utilizing the Market street frontage for business purposes.

An offer of $500 per foot, for 22 feet front running back 250 feet is said to have been made to Mr. Hill, the parties making the bid intending to erect a three story building thereon.

Across the street from this property the Odd Fellows have decided to erect a $50,000 building during the coming summer.

Just east of the site belonging to the Odd Fellows, Mr. Hill has a five story building the first floor of which is to be occupied by a large retail grocery, the rental agreed upon being $100 per month. The building is to be a frontage of 50 feet with a depth of 118 feet.

ONE-STORY BUILDINGS.

J. F. Updegraff Building Four Storerooms on West Temple Street.

Yesterday masons were busy at work laying the brick for a new building on the piece of ground in front of the Utah steam laundry on West Temple street.

The outer wall will be extended only high enough for a one-story building, which will be divided into four storerooms.

Mr. Updegraff gave as his reason for stopping the building at one story that the piece of ground is a narrow strip, and that it is to be used for a one-story building.

Mr. Updegraff gave as his reason for stopping the building at one story that the piece of ground is a narrow strip, and that it is to be used for a one-story building.

Mr. Updegraff gave as his reason for stopping the building at one story that the piece of ground is a narrow strip, and that it is to be used for a one-story building.

Mr. Updegraff gave as his reason for stopping the building at one story that the piece of ground is a narrow strip, and that it is to be used for a one-story building.

Mr. Updegraff gave as his reason for stopping the building at one story that the piece of ground is a narrow strip, and that it is to be used for a one-story building.

Mr. Updegraff gave as his reason for stopping the building at one story that the piece of ground is a narrow strip, and that it is to be used for a one-story building.

Mr. Updegraff gave as his reason for stopping the building at one story that the piece of ground is a narrow strip, and that it is to be used for a one-story building.

Mr. Updegraff gave as his reason for stopping the building at one story that the piece of ground is a narrow strip, and that it is to be used for a one-story building.

Mr. Updegraff gave as his reason for stopping the building at one story that the piece of ground is a narrow strip, and that it is to be used for a one-story building.

Mr. Updegraff gave as his reason for stopping the building at one story that the piece of ground is a narrow strip, and that it is to be used for a one-story building.

Mr. Updegraff gave as his reason for stopping the building at one story that the piece of ground is a narrow strip, and that it is to be used for a one-story building.